Nuclear Disaster
Intercepted by God

We were in a school; every class room was filled to capacity. All the children were in drill formation, against the wall on their knees with their heads down and their hands folded over the backs of our heads. Me and a group of praying warriors refused to accept the end. We began to pray and warfare. Many were crying softly in fear but we were in warfare. For as long as the dream was, I saw us in prayer.

Suddenly an announcement was made over the school intercom that said, "The United States White House arrested the terrorist who planned a nuclear attack. All explosives were disarmed." Shouts of joy filled the whole school! As we rose to love each other you could hear the celebration as far as you could see. My team and I praised and worshiped our great God! I woke up!

Note: This dream came as a result of the nuclear scare from the 2011 Japan Tsunami/Earthquake nuclear leakage. God stopped it!

The Nuclear Cloud – December 2011

This dream occurred after I re-married. I am not currently married but in this dream I was. We had both gone into two different countries to minister. We hugged and conversed about our individual endeavors and celebrated the work God had done through us.

As we reached to embrace each other we heard a rumbling in the earth. We turned to look over our shoulders as our assistants put our belongings in the limo, we saw the rising of a nuclear mushroom cloud. We slowly looked at each other, thanked God for all He had done, and for our time together. We encouraged one another in the faith. The last to get into the limo we took another look over at the mushroom cloud and the dream faded into darkness. I woke up!
