

A Dream
of Apostle Arnetta Armour Salazar

A Roman Soldier Walks The New York Skyline Enters From The East
July 2010

Artwork coming soon

I was standing in New York City looking up at the skyline when the clouds rolled back and took on various forms; as an ancient Roman-like soldier. It was HUGE! No one seemed to be disturbed by it.

The huge figure of a Roman soldier began to walk and it stepped on to another cloud that glided it across the sky. One foot looked like it could squash a city but it never came down out of the sky. It had an intense look on its face. It slowly disappeared as it glided towards the West part of the city. Just before I woke up a strange man stood on my right and said "Ain't it beautiful!" When I turned to look at him he smiled and said it again. Then I heard his voice say pay attention! I woke up.

I was instructed to pay attention to God, the signs of the time, the dreams, and visions He has given me to see and know.

Manifestation: Homosexual Same Sex Marriages legalized in the State of New York